I grew up in West Columbia, Texas, about one hour southeast of Houston. I graduated from Columbia High School in 1992. I began my college studies by living at home and commuting to Wharton County Junior College every day for two years. From there, I transferred to Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. In May of 1997, I graduated with a B.S. in Mathematics, majoring in mathematics, and minoring in English. I also earned a Lifetime Teaching Certificate in grades 6 to 12 for math. I continued my higher education at Southwest Texas State University, receiving my M. Ed., with a major in mathematics and a minor in education, in December of 1998. Throughout my college years, I tutored in the math lab center at Southwest Texas State University as well as Sylvan Learning Center. I began my teaching career with student teaching in 1997. I have taught 15 years at the high school level in the following school districts in Texas: San Marcos, Austin, Pflugerville, and Leander. In 2012, I began teaching at the collegiate level. Throughout the last 9 years, I have taught at Strayer University, The University of Texas at Austin, Austin Community College, and Huston Tillotson University.

Altogether I have been teaching and tutoring math for close to 28 years and love what I do! I believe every student can do mathematics. With each unique individual student, I look forward to encouraging their future success through any means possible on my part.

I am married to my husband, Wayne, and have two daughters, Ellie and Elena. We live in Leander, northwest of Austin. I enjoy cooking and gardening, trying new recipes, swimming, biking, running, and most of all EATING CHOCOLATE!
